

If you ask anybody, they will all tell you,
“I could do with making some more money this month”;
but could they tell you 10 ways
that they could make some more money, this week.

I bet one of those ways is asking for overtime or an extra shift in their current job. Perhaps they don't know how to make some more money or perhaps they don't believe it's possible to make some more money, which leaves them with their current income, which isn't going to increase any time soon.

At some point, it would be useful to know some realistic ways to make some extra money.

At some point you may need to find a way of making some good money on the side of your main job as a second income. That could be difficult at short notice and without a little practice.

Others have found, that it would be useful to have a second income ready to go when you need it.

Practice makes perfect and just practicing getting ready to go out, making sure you have the right equipment and materials to make some extra money using your chosen method.

Fill your spare time with a rewarding income generation method.

There are 1,000 income generating methods to choose from and each of these methods can be tailored for you, making it unique to you and you can fill those gaps, where you don't have any work right now with a second income.

Take control of the next ‘step up’ in your finances.

I want you to be busy, thinking about making extra money, every day. I'm going to help you, use your skills, to increase your income.

1,000 ways

I've given away the whole list of 1,000 Ways to Make £1,000; you're reading it right now.

Whether you choose to 'lone wolf' it and 'go it alone' or 'Powerteam' it up and create something special that you are determined will last; your first step is to be honest with yourself and think about, what are your skills, what resources do you have and what are you prepared to do.

Income categories.

There are 20 pages, each with 50 headline descriptions of the income generation methods. Each of the methods has an indication of 'where you could work' and 'how you could travel'.

The location may be;
at home, in a home office or a workshop, garage or garden shed at home, visiting customers near home or at a customer office near or far for example.

The method of travel may be;
walking, if you're at home, by car for travelling near to your home or a van for moving anything heavy or large.

Try to match your skills, resources and preferences to one or several of the income generation methods.

That might be easier than you think.
If you only want to work from home for example, that limits you to around a 1/3 of the 1,000 ways to start with.

How is it going to help

I never want you to worry about making money ever again.
Start to develop an income generation method, or 2 or several that you can fall back on, when you are ready or if you need to.

Start to take control of your income part time and run a second income alongside your full time job, or fill those blank spaces until it become so ridiculous, it just makes sense to admit to yourself, I'm in control of my income now.

I've grouped the 1,000 income generation methods into 20 categories of similar income generation methods and I've listed some features to help you choose between them, like do you need a car, can I work from home or I have some spare space to use.

First choose a category that suits you, or a way of working or a method of transport that limits you. You should find several methods that suit you, that you can choose from.

Near home or Home office
No car, Car or Van
Presenting to businesses or using a PC at home
Their home or a Commercial building

By matching your skills and preferences to these features, you can discover your ideal income generation methods.

Start part time

Each of the 1,000 income generation methods are intended to be started part time, alongside your main income at first, as a second or back up income, just in case. When you apply the income increasers, you may find that you have developed a replacement income.

Actual examples

Most of the 1,000 have been taken from actual examples where clients or colleagues of mine have used these methods to generate a regular income. There will be training videos for each of these 1,000 methods, showing you how to make that first £1,000 from scratch.

Income features

Each of these methods have the same features such as, can I work from home, near home or at a customer's house. Do I need a home office, and will I need P.C. Do I need a car or van? By matching these features to your skills and preferences will help you choose the methods that suit you.

Income generation methods

There are 1,000 income generation methods, split between 40 subjects to make it easier for you to choose a method that suits you. I have also noted where you are likely to be trading and what method transport you may use. There are many more features that can help you find the exact methods that really suit you.

Income increasers

Once you have made £1,000 once, you should want to repeat the process and make another £1,000. Understanding a few business drivers or income increasers as I like to call them, will allow you to make your next £1,000, even quicker, easier and more efficiently.

Income multipliers

There are 50 income multipliers that are used regularly by successful entrepreneurs, which allow you to turn £1,000 into £2,000 or more, much more. These methods should only be applied to efficient income generation methods or you could end up multiplying mistakes.

6. 50 methods using your spare space

Who knew there was so much you could do with a little spare space?
I want to show you how to make an income out of a little fresh air, especially if it has a roof. No space should be left empty.

These 50 income generation methods are intended to be the basis from which you can create your own unique income method that suites you and the area you live in. There are lessons to be learned from each example.

I have also noted where you are likely to be trading and what method transport you may use. There are many more features that can help you find the exact methods that really suit you.

Income increasers

Once you have made £1,000 once, you should want to repeat the process and make another £1,000. Understanding a few business drivers or income increasers as I like to call them, will allow you to make your next £1,000, even quicker, easier and more efficiently.

Income multipliers

There are 50 income multipliers that are used regularly by successful entrepreneurs, which allow you to turn £1,000 into £2,000 or more, much more. These methods should only be applied to efficient income generation methods or you could end up multiplying mistakes.

11. 50 Reselling information products

Another core skill is product development, taking a basic idea and modernising. personalising and developing it into a full product. It's like being given the basic plot and you're being asked to write the full book and make the film.

These 50 income generation methods are intended to be the basis from which you can create your own unique income method that suites you and the area you live in. There are lessons to be learned from each example.

Start part time

Each of the 1,000 income generation methods are intended to be started part time, alongside your main income at first, as a second or back up income, just in case. When you apply the income increasers, you may find that you have developed a replacement income.

Actual examples

Most of the 1,000 have been taken from actual examples where clients or colleagues of mine have used these methods to generate a regular income. There will be training videos for each of these 1,000 methods, showing you how to make that first £1,000 from scratch.

Income features

Each of these methods have the same features such as, can I work from home, near home or at a customer’s house. Do I need a home office, and will I need P.C. Do I need a car or van? By matching these features to your skills and preferences will help you choose the methods that suit you.

Income generation methods

There are 1,000 income generation methods, split between 40 subjects to make it easier for you to choose a method that suits you. I have also noted where you are likely to be trading and what method transport you may use. There are many more features that can help you find the exact methods that really suit you.

Income increasers

Once you have made £1,000 once, you should want to repeat the process and make another £1,000. Understanding a few business drivers or income increasers as I like to call them, will allow you to make your next £1,000, even quicker, easier and more efficiently.

Income multipliers

There are 50 income multipliers that are used regularly by successful entrepreneurs, which allow you to turn £1,000 into £2,000 or more, much more. These methods should only be applied to efficient income generation methods or you could end up multiplying mistakes.

17. 50 Advisor methods

Advisors are a special breed, always right and they seem to know everything about certain subjects. Is that the trick, pick a subject that nobody else understands and become a leader of that subject.

These 50 income generation methods are intended to be the basis from which you can create your own unique income method that suites you and the area you live in. There are lessons to be learned from each example.

Pick your ideal income generation method from a choice of 1,000 ways.

I'm Steve Rollinson, a double Chartered Accountant, multiple business owner and the creator of 1,000 ways to make that all important first £1,000.

As an Accountant for over 35 years, I have been surrounded by successful entrepreneurs, business-people, project managers and budget holders and it has been my job to perform open book surgery on them all and ask the questions that other people can't ask, such as;

- Why have they chosen this income generation method?
- How do they achieve the lowest cost price possible?
- What is their pricing strategy?
- How are they securing their supplies?
- What where their Unique Selling Points to differentiate themselves from their competition?
- How do they find and serve their customers?
- What standard processes or resource plans do they have? and
- How are they organised and motivated to deliver a great customer service?

I have been tracking 1,000 of the most successful and interesting ways to make £1,000 over a 35-year period and I'm constantly being told by my clients and colleagues that making that first £1,000 is the most difficult.

Those people who get past that first £1,000 often continue to make another £1,000 and then another. It's almost like a £1,000 is a magic number. I've listed 1,000 ways to make that all important first £1,000.

Even if you had a go and did it poorly and inefficiently at first, just to get used to using an income generation method, just in case it may be useful at some point in the future.

I have only displayed 2 of the basic features to help you choose which between these methods. In the full version there are many more features to help you find your ideal part time, second income or back up income.

Let me help you choose the income generation methods that suit you, Let me help you get through that first £1,000 barrier and Let me show you how to set realistic targets in multiples of £1,000.

Your next step to create your ideal second income will cost you just £49.

I've grouped the 1,000 income generation methods into 20 categories of similar income generation methods and I've listed some features to help you choose between them, like do you need a car, can I work from home or I have some spare space to use.

First choose a category that suits you, or a way of working or a method of transport that limits you. You should find several methods that suit you, that you can choose from.

- Near home or Home office
- No car, Car or Van
- Presenting to businesses or using a PC at home
- Their home or a Commercial building

By matching your skills and preferences to these features, you can discover your ideal income generation methods.
